*I am my beloved's,
and my beloved is mine.*

SONG OF SOLOMON 6:3

*I will rise now, and go about the city in the streets, and in the broad ways
I will seek him whom my soul loveth:
I sought him, but I found him not.*

*The watchmen that go about the city found me: to whom I said,
Saw ye him whom my soul loveth?
It was but a little that I passed from them, but I found him whom my soul loveth: I held him, and would not let him go.*

SONG OF SOLOMON 3:2-4

THE QUEST FOR WHOLENESS

Each one of us has a twin soul, or twin flame, who was created with us in the beginning. God created you and your twin flame out of a single “white fire body.” He separated this white fire ovoid into two spheres of being—one with a masculine polarity and the other with a feminine polarity, but each with the same spiritual origin and unique pattern of identity.

Aeons ago, you and your twin flame stood before the Father-Mother God and volunteered to descend into the planes of matter to bring God’s love to earth. The original plan was that you would go through a series of incarnations in both masculine and feminine embodiments, as each half of the Divine Whole learned to be the instrument of the Father-Mother God.

Our early life on earth was blissful, and we would each have continued to share the beauty of the relationship of cosmic lovers with our twin flame throughout our many incarnations, if we had remained in harmony with each other and with God. But we fell from the state of perfection by misusing God's light. This is the true meaning of the Garden of Eden story.

Had we retained the harmony of the One, the rapture of our love would have remained throughout our lifetimes on earth. But when harmony was lost—through fear, mistrust, or a sense of separation from our Source—we became the victims of our negative karma. Separated vibrationally, no longer preferring one another, we were bound by entangling alliances and mutual neglect until our souls cried out for the living God. . . and each other.

Each incarnation apart from our twin flame was spent either creating negative karma or balancing some of the karma that stood in the way of our reunion. At times we assumed various relationships with our twin flame—husband/wife, mother/son, father/daughter, and sister/brother—in order to unwind the negative strands of energy we had woven into our subconscious through our misuse of free will.

Now is the time, at the end of this cycle of history and moving into the Aquarian age, that people of light who are on a spiritual path need to learn to contact their twin flames. This search is prompted by our Higher Selves, but inadequately understood at the physical level. Often, when people learn that they share a unique mission with their twin flame, they begin to search physically for that one special soul instead of seeking their wholeness within. This is always a detour on the path to soul liberation. It is our relationship to God and our Higher Self that holds the key to finding and becoming one with our twin flame.

The Taj Mahal, built by the Mogul Emperor Shah Jahan as a tomb for his beloved wife, is a tribute to the majesty of divine love. It stands as a shrine to the eternal love of twin flames.

Cosmic law requires that we first define our own identity in God before we can completely unlock the joint spiritual potential of our twin flames. For until twin flames achieve a certain level of mastery and oneness with their own Real Selves, they are often unable to cope with the weight of their negative karma as it is amplified by the presence of their twin flame. The same unique factor that gives twin flames their great spiritual power—their identical blueprint of identity—can likewise cause the amplification of their negative patterns.

Ultimately each and every one of us must learn to change the negative patterns, the base metal of the human ego, into the gold of our divine or Real Self. This is called the alchemical marriage—the marriage of our soul, the feminine aspect of our being, to the ‘Lamb’ who is the real and enduring spiritual self, the masculine aspect. The love of this beloved Christ Self, i.e., that part of us who maintains constant contact with the Source—the I AM Presence—is an incomparable love. This is the Beloved for whom the saints of East and West have given their all.

By daily accelerating consciousness through their communion with God, the saints gradually transcended the human ego. Eventually their souls merged with their real spiritual self as they ascended back to the heart of God. “For this corruptible must put on incorruption, and this mortal must put on immortality.” (I Cor. 15:53)

CREATION OF TWIN FLAMES

(Fig. 1–2) Representing the masculine and feminine polarity of God's wholeness, T'ai chi rotates and divides into two identical spheres—twin flames of the One. A drop from the ocean of God's being, each sphere, or Divine Monad, consists of the I AM Presence surrounded by the spheres (rings of color, of light) which make up the Causal Body. In this way, the Father-Mother God created us in their own image—male and female.

(Fig. 3–4) Each IAM Presence then sends forth a ray—a soul. Each soul focuses the opposite polarity—one, masculine; the other, feminine. Between the soul evolving on earth and the IAM Presence stands the Christ Self—our personal mediator between Spirit and Matter. We may rise to become one with our Christ Self by exercising free will and achieving mastery on earth. This is the ‘alchemical’ marriage that must precede the eternal marriage of twin flames.

CREATION OF TWIN FLAMES

(Fig. 5–6) Adam and Eve symbolize the testing required by God of all twin flames. Although each of us came forth from Spirit to fulfill our mission to take dominion over the earth, we have fallen from the state of perfection (Eden) through our own disobedience and rebellion against cosmic law. As a result, we have had to endure the suffering of being separated from our twin flames for many incarnations as we endeavor to balance our karma.

SOUL MATES AND TWIN FLAMES

(Fig. 7) As soon as twin flames misqualified the energy of God, they began to create negative karma—coils of energy that form layers of negativity and density in their auras separating them from their own I AM Presence and their twin flame.

CREATION OF TWIN FLAMES

(Fig. 8) Through the daily use of the violet transmuting flame, this misqualified energy—such as resentment, irritation, anxiety, frustration—can be stripped of its negativity, purified, and returned to the seven rings of the Causal Body in the plane of Spirit as our “treasures stored in heaven.”

FIG. 8

(Fig. 9–10) We can unite with our twin flame at inner levels, amplifying the threefold flame of God within our hearts, and using the dynamic polarity of our love to fulfill our mission. Our ultimate union occurs when we have become one with our I AM Presence and reunited in the plane of Spirit as immortal, God-free beings.

INNER CONTACT OF TWIN FLAMES

Your twin flame may have already won soul liberation and reunited with God—or he may still be struggling to find the way. Where your twin flame is—what his or her state of consciousness is—can greatly influence your own ability to find wholeness. Because both of you share the same blueprint of identity—like the design of a snowflake, unique in all of cosmos—whatever energy you send forth is imprinted or stamped with that specific pattern. According to the law that like attracts like, all energy you release cycles to your twin flame—either hindering or helping him on the path to wholeness.

When you send forth love or hope, these qualities will uplift your twin flame. But if you are burdened with frustration or hatred, your twin flame will likewise feel the weight of these inharmonious feelings. Sometimes the inexplicable joys or depressions you feel are the moods of your other half registering on your own consciousness.

You can accelerate your spiritual progress if, in your prayer, meditation, or dynamic decrees,* you call to your I AM Presence for the inner heart contact with your twin flame. You can make the following invocation:

In the name of the Christ I call to the blessed I AM Presence of our twin flames for the sealing of our hearts as one for the victory of our mission to humanity. I invoke the light of the Holy Spirit for the consuming of all negative karma limiting the full expression of our divine identity and the fulfillment of our divine plan.

*Decrees are rhythmic prayers that call forth a powerful spiritual energy. This light-energy, combined with visualization, has the special quality of erasing and transmuting negative aspects of ourselves and enhancing positive aspects.

In saying this, even if you live in separate spheres, you can unite spiritually on higher planes and direct light into your own world and the world of your twin flame for the balancing of mutual karma. This inner contact magnifies the light and attainment you each have and releases the awesome power of the polarity of your love, enabling you to stand strong against the conflicts that inevitably come to the door of all who would defend love.

Inspired by the grandeur of love, artists, writers, and composers throughout the ages have expressed both love's exalted heights and tragic depths. In many of their masterpieces, we can sense an inner understanding of twin flames, their love for one another, and their encounters with karma and cosmic law.

Many famous operas can be interpreted from this perspective. Even though some of the arias and duets give us a glimpse of the majestic love of twin flames, the plots often end in sorrow, tragedy, or death because one or both of the lovers fail a test of personal mastery—having not yet sealed their own individual path in God. These dramatic stories teach us of the pitfalls to be encountered in achieving the highest love and help us understand what not to do.

*P*uccini's Madame Butterfly tells the story of the American Lieutenant Pinkerton and his contract marriage to Butterfly, a trusting fifteen-year-old Japanese girl. These two souls symbolize twin flames. Their Eastern and Western cultures represent both the masculine and feminine polarities of twin flames and the gulf that separates souls who have not yet balanced their karma and must endure the pain of separation as a result.

Pinkerton, a man hardened by the world, has lost the sense of the purity of true love. Although he is attracted by the beauty and charm of Butterfly, he deliberately plans to desert her for an American wife. In their brief time together, Pinkerton and his Japanese bride share intense moments of love—their souls uniting as one flame commemorating their original wholeness in God. And the fruit of this union is the conception of a child—a symbol of their great love.

But the Lieutenant does not realize she is carrying his child and is blinded by his own ambition, his cultural arrogance and selfish desires. He goes home to America, leaving Butterfly to trust in his eventual return. She waits patiently and hopefully, watching for his ship every day.

Pinkerton does return, several years later—with an American wife. In her grief at this desertion by her twin flame, Butterfly takes her life.

LOHENGRIN

Wagner's opera Lohengrin illustrates the relationship of twin flames when the one who has ascended into Spirit endeavors to assist his beloved—still undergoing the tests and initiations on earth.

Elsa is falsely accused of murdering her brother, but she has absolute faith in the arrival of a knight in shining armor to save her. Lohengrin, Elsa's ascended twin flame, answers her inner call and descends from higher planes to rescue her. He glides across
